New Presiding Elders

As the bishop arose to read the appointments there was a stillness that is seidom equalled in a large body like the Western North Carolina conference. The good bishop made reference to the appointments, stating that he and the cabinet had done the best they could; that they had possibly made some mi takes, but he desired all to accept the assignments and go out to make the new conference year culty between the two in the woman's the best in the history of the cenfer- home on Leonard street. nce. He was brought to the station house and later removed to the hospital. Not less would recover today.

After giving the wounded negro first aid treatment, the officers started out in hot pursuit for his assailants. Near the pumping station they found three negroes and placed them under arrest. Returning to the city a freight train passed. A negro was seen on top of the train and was heard to exclaim that the officers couldn't get him. After the police had returned to the station house a telephone message was sent to Greensboro by Officer Will Cecil and John Eckles, one of the alleged assailants, was arrested by the Gate City authorities. When taken into custody he is said to have been carrying a concealed weapon and was suffering from a pistol shot wound in the arms. Chief of Police High Point and the chief said the negro admitted that he was the one who had done the cutting.

The police said all the negroes were drinking.
